

A.E.A. General Assembly 12th of May 2014 - Brussels

On the 12th of May 2014 representatives from professional associations for hearing care professionals in 11 countries met at the AEA (European Association of Hearing Aid Professionals) General Assembly in Brussels.

The day before they had participated at the AEA mini-symposium where different stakeholders shared vision on how professional hearing care can and should develop the future. For more details see the report available on the AEA website.

During the AEA General Assembly the key priorities on which the AEA should focus for each country were discussed and analysed. It is interesting to see that the key priorities are very similar for the different countries and also very much in line with the priorities discussed at the AEA mini-symposium by other stakeholders.

In the second part of the General Assembly the new AEA management (AEA President, General Assembly and Board) was elected. Unlike earlier years, the candidates presented a joined team project, that on one hand was clearly in line with the key priorities communicated by the different countries and on the other hand was very challenging. The assembly unanimously elected the new AEA board.
